

TECHNICAL STAFFING

https://expectllc.com/?post_type=jobs&p=2775

Senior Software Engineer

Description

Seeking a Senior Software Engineer for a well funded start-up is developing an automated genomic writing/editing bench top instrument. This is a full-time/perm position and can be Remote, or work from a company office in Boulder, Colorado / Pleasanton, California / San Diego, California.

Responsibilities

- 7-10 years experience developing software in a full stack web-based environment
- Proficient with modern web server architecture using Java or C#
- Deep understanding of object-oriented principles and design, as well as clean coding techniques
- Experience with modern JavaScript front-end web frameworks – Angular, React.js, or Vue.js
- Experience with HTML, CSS, and SaSS
- Experience with RESTful API development
- Ability to demonstrate basic SQL database design and write moderately complex SQL queries (Expertise with JPA and Hibernate a plus)
- Experience with distributed version control – preferably Git and Git-flow
- Experience using and contributing to improvement of CI and CD platform
- Ability and willingness to write/maintain unit tests to ensure software quality

Qualifications

- Developing new software/systems to support delivery of data to customers, R&D personnel and enterprise resource management systems using a variety of web-based programming tools
- Work with computational scientists to build software integration between platforms
- Assist in building and supporting SQL databases
- Collaboration with other developers on the team to improve software quality and improve overall systems architecture
- Support end-users in a 24/7 production environment as needed

Hiring organization

Expect Technical Staffing

Employment Type

Full-time

Industry

Biotechnology

Job Location

1001 Pearl St., 80302, Boulder, Colorado, USA